Opportunities for Students

What can you do with your MTS membership?

- ✓ Learn. Attend a conference and connect with top scientists and engineers. Get news and information from the Society, including a subscription to the Marine Technology Society Journal.
- ✓ Build Your Network. Meet marine scientists, researchers, engineers, designers, technicians, and students. Start developing your professional network.
- ✓ Share Your Research. Did you know that students can submit articles to the Marine Technology Society Journal? We also welcome poster submissions at many of our conferences. Start building your CV with the Marine Technology Society.
- ✓ Get a Mentor. MTS mentors are seasoned professionals who can provide guidance on career paths, technical areas of interest, management, and communication skills. Visit our website and complete a questionnaire on our free online platform to identify a mentor in your area of interest.
- ✓ Help Fund Your Education. In the past 10 years, MTS Headquarters, its Sections, and Technical Committees have awarded more than $2 million in scholarships to more than 300 students worldwide. Visit mtsociety.org to apply for a scholarship.

Not a member?

Student memberships are only $25 a year.

Join a Student Section

The Society provides funding for MTS Student Sections at colleges and universities.

Collaborate with other students and professors on papers and posters, travel to conferences and competitions, or hold regular meetings with featured speakers. Your student section is what you make it!

Don't have a Student Section at your school? Check the guidelines on our website and start one.

Did you know? You can also join a local MTS Professional Section for free and network with career professionals.

Get Hands-On Experience

MTS has partnered with Rutgers University and Northwestern Michigan College to offer week-long, hands-on training for students. Get out of the classroom and on the water to experience, first-hand, what it's like to work with sonar, ROVs, gliders, and more.

Visit our website for information about our summer programs.
